

FICA GUIDELINES RISK-BASED APPROACH

THE FINANCIAL INTELLIGENCE CENTRE ACT (FICA) REQUIRES RESPONSIBLE INSTITUTIONS LIKE BANKS, ESTATE AGENTS AND ATTORNEYS TO COMBAT MONEY LAUNDERING AND FINANCING OF TERRORIST ACTIVITIES.

It is essential that you implement client due diligence measures, especially when considering beneficial ownership and persons in prominent positions.

Your FICA risk-based approach to client identification and verification should include the following:

(The below are only guidelines and all client identification and verification should be conducted in accordance with your Risk Management and Compliance Programme).

1. Know and understand your agency's unique Risk Management and Compliance Programme.
2. Identify who your prospective client is.
3. Verify your prospective client's identity with the below suggested documents.
4. Determine what the nature of the business relationship will be (for example, assistance with a property sale or lease).
5. Determine the source of funds that your prospective client will use to conclude the transaction:
6. If your prospective client is a company, partnership, trust, or close corporation, identify the beneficial owner, trustees, directors, partners, beneficiary, executive management.
7. Determine whether your prospective client is a foreign or domestic prominent person, as referred to in FICA.
8. If the answer is "yes" to question 7, determine where they obtained the funds for the transaction and what their source of wealth is.
9. Assess the risk that the prospective client and transaction poses from a money laundering point of view.
10. Continue to monitor and assess your clients and transactions for any unlawful or suspicious behavior.
11. Report any suspicious or unlawful transactions to your Reporting Officer.
